DESCRIPTION

Where the Karst meets the Sea: Your exclusive terrace over Trieste

There are places where the boundary between home and nature vanishes. This single-family villa is one of those. Surrounded by the authentic flora of the Karst, this property rises above the city, offering total and priceless sea views from every single room. Light and space: The southern exposure, floods the two levels of the adjacent house with sunshine. The ground floor is the heart of conviviality, with a living room warmed by the fireplace that dialogues with the large outdoor porch. On the upper floor, the sleeping area is designed for maximum comfort: five generous rooms, including a master suite, where the first glance in the morning is turned to the horizon of the gulf. Living the outdoors: The fenced wooded garden is a private park where children can grow in freedom and where the equipped porch allows you to live 365 days a year, protected and surrounded by silence.
